

Photos of Little Fish Creek Hike
Burns BLM District

August 14, 2012

The hike begins on the road down Grove Creek, past remarkable old stands of quaking aspen.

After a mile, the road ends at a "Wilderness Boundary" sign...

...but the hike continues cross-country through the aspen groves behind the sign.

After a half-mile of bushwhacking over a low ridge, one enters the Little Fish Creek watershed.

There is a good walking trail up the entire length of Little Fish Creek...

...past numerous small beaver dams and ponds...

...and ending at the access road to the old cabins at the Nye Place.

Before walking up to one's vehicle, the short detour to the Blitzen Gorge overlook is highly recommended.
